Position Context:

The Central Highlands Women’s Collective (CHWC) began in 1983 with the premise that women have the strength to change the world. At the outset the Collective identified the need to name women’s experience of family violence as essential in challenging community attitudes condoning violence against women. They sought to shine a light on the gendered nature of family violence.

Funding was received in 1988 for ‘The Women’s Resource Information & Support Centre’ (WRISC). In the 1990’s funding was specific to provide family violence outreach support (agencies historically supporting the work of women’s refuges). The Collective, comprising personnel and non-personnel community members, managed WRISC under a flat structure until 2006. A new hierarchal staffing structure was then adopted. An Executive Officer and Business Manager were appointed. A new constitution was drafted to reflect the changed organisational structure and passed by members in October 2007. A board of governance was elected in November 2007.

WRISC Family Violence Support is a non-profit organisation funded in the main by the Department of Health and Human Services. WRISC provides a range of services for women and children living in or escaping from situations of family violence. Services include information, referral, advocacy, support, women’s and children’s support groups and children’s counselling. The WRISC office is located in Ballarat and services are offered across the Central Highlands region of Victoria including the shires of Ballarat, Hepburn, Moorabool, Pyrenees and Golden Plains. Services are provided on an outreach basis (including outreach offices and home visits) and at the WRISC office. WRISC is a member of the Grampians Integrated Family Violence Committee and our services are delivered within an integrated service system working closely with police, courts and other agencies.
